

GLI EUROPE B.V. RELOCATES AND EXPANDS LABORATORY

HILLEGOM, The Netherlands (10 May 2007) – GLI Europe B.V. serves Europe's flourishing casino and AWP market, and now with the rapid expansion of these markets, the company has relocated and expanded its certification laboratory. The new and larger facility is located in Hillegom, and is designed to meet the specific requirements for testing and evaluation of gaming equipment and monitoring and control systems.

The increased floor space and testing equipment ensures GLI Europe has the capability and capacity to undertake the increasing demand for evaluations in both the AWP and casino markets throughout Europe.

GLI Europe General Manager Peter Cercone said, "Our increased floor area and improved layout means we can accommodate our increased number of clients in the AWP, systems and Multistation gaming platform markets at the same time."

The new Hillegom facility comprises 22,000 square feet, tripling the testing and evaluation areas of GLI's previous lab. Included in the new lab are dedicated high-security testing areas where manufacturers can locate prototype equipment during the evaluation process resulting in shorter time to market and increased security.

Additionally, the lab includes larger dedicated areas for the evaluation of AWP-style machines, allowing the lab to meet increased demand stemming from regulatory changes in the United Kingdom and Spanish markets.

GLI Europe operates two fully equipped test laboratories in Hillegom (The Netherlands) and Bologna (Italy) and serves Western, Central and Eastern Europe, including the Mediterranean.

Gaming Laboratories International currently operates wholly owned and fully staffed gaming test laboratories in Lakewood, NJ; Golden, CO; Las Vegas, NV; GLI Europe, B.V. in Hillegom, The Netherlands; GLI Africa in Pretoria, South Africa; GLI Italia, in Bologna, Italy and GLI Asia, Macau, China. Gaming Laboratories Australia operates fully accredited test laboratories in Sydney and Adelaide under license to GLI. GLI is the only laboratory, public or private, that maintains ISO 17025 Accreditation at all of its testing laboratory locations.
