

Boser comes of age at ICE 2008

Boser, the Taiwanese industrial panel PC experts, are celebrating their 21st birthday by becoming the latest company to join the global list of first-time exhibitors at ICE 2008, the London-based International Casino Exhibition which runs between Tuesday 22nd and Thursday 24th January.

Sales manager, Joreen Chen explained: „Boser have signed up to participate in ICE 2008 because we're at a point where we feel our IPC (industrial panel pc) applications can really benefit gaming products manufacturers.“

At ICE 2008, Boser will be showing their 10-inch to 19-inch Highspeed Core Duo 2 Slim Saw Touch Panel PC, a product which melds gaming with industrial PC technology, alongside their 3.5-inch Embedded Board, ETX Module, Panel PC and Fanless BareBone System.
